Personal Profile:

Nick joined Flude Property Consultants in April 2022, working within the firm's agency department as an Assistant Surveyor. He has since progressed through the business, initially being promoted to Surveying Executive in April 2024, and now holds the role of Graduate / Apprentice Surveyor.

Nick primarily assists Ed Deslandes with office agency instructions across Brighton & Hove and the wider Sussex market, supporting with property inspections, marketing, viewings, negotiations and client reporting. He also contributes to Flude's office market research, helping to monitor local supply, demand and transactional activity.

Nick is currently enrolled on the Chartered Surveyor Degree Apprenticeship through the University of the Built Environment, working towards qualification as a Chartered Surveyor. His previous sales experience has given him strong transferable skills in communication, problem solving, client care and project management.
